Camp Lonesome Conservation Area is a 2,443 acre property purchased by the Osceola County Environmental Lands Conservation Program (formerly SAVE Osceola) in 2007. Camp Lonesome is part of the greater “Big Bend” area, providing protection and enhancement of natural ecosystems and resources. As a result, the property supports several imperiled or rare ecological communities and wildlife species.

Previous owners of Camp Lonesome used the property for cattle production. Drainage canals that cross the property allude to its agricultural background. This beautiful piece of “old Florida” landscape is characterized by pine flatwoods, palmetto prairies, live oak hammocks, mixed wetland hardwoods, cypress, freshwater marshes, wet prairies and some remnant pasture.

Approximately 75% of the Camp Lonesome ecosystem is fire-dependent, meaning it requires prescribed fire to properly maintain it. Fire enhances the land by opening the understory for new vegetation growth and returns carbon to the soil, which enriches the soil for further growth. Prescribed fire also reduces the fire load, therefore reducing the threat of wildfires.

The Camp Lonesome trail system offers guests an impressive 5.5 miles of hiking and equestrian trails. The property also provides primitive campsites and primitive equestrian campsites to allow guests to explore all that Camp Lonesome has to offer!

Take nothing but pictures, kill nothing but time, leave nothing but footprints. Please remember that all plants and animals are protected and no hunting, harassment or removal of wildlife is permitted. For safety and security purposes, Camp Lonesome is accessible by reservation only. Please call 407-742-0200 to reserve your visit.
